

The most intimate secret of the flying man arises from the genesis of the wings, as they are not of metal, but of Spirit, doling out in a measure which is still a great mystery (a kingdom in the sky, grounded by rules, but unbounded by the love of flying). Please, ponder this.